

U.S. traffic growth and gasoline consumption

Selected indicators

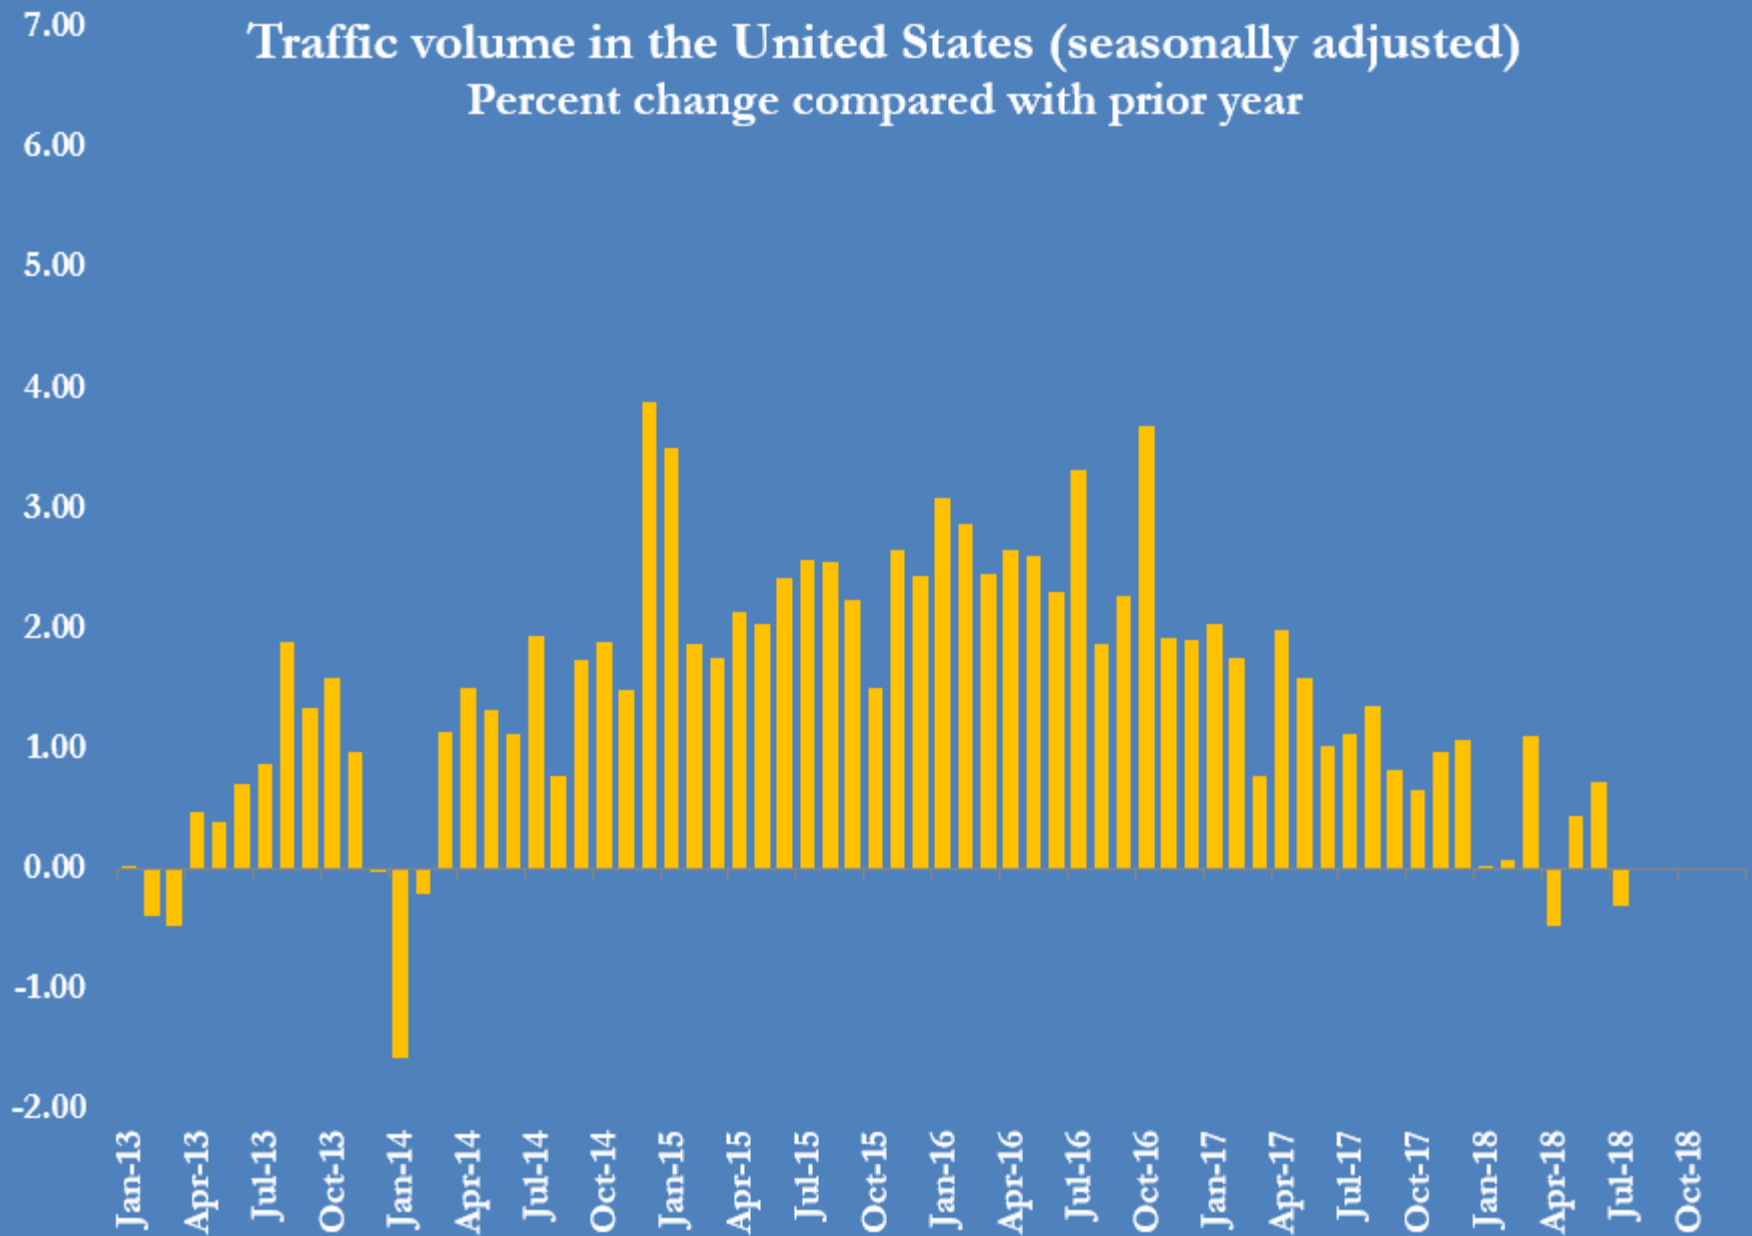

JOHN KEMP

REUTERS

25 Sep 2018

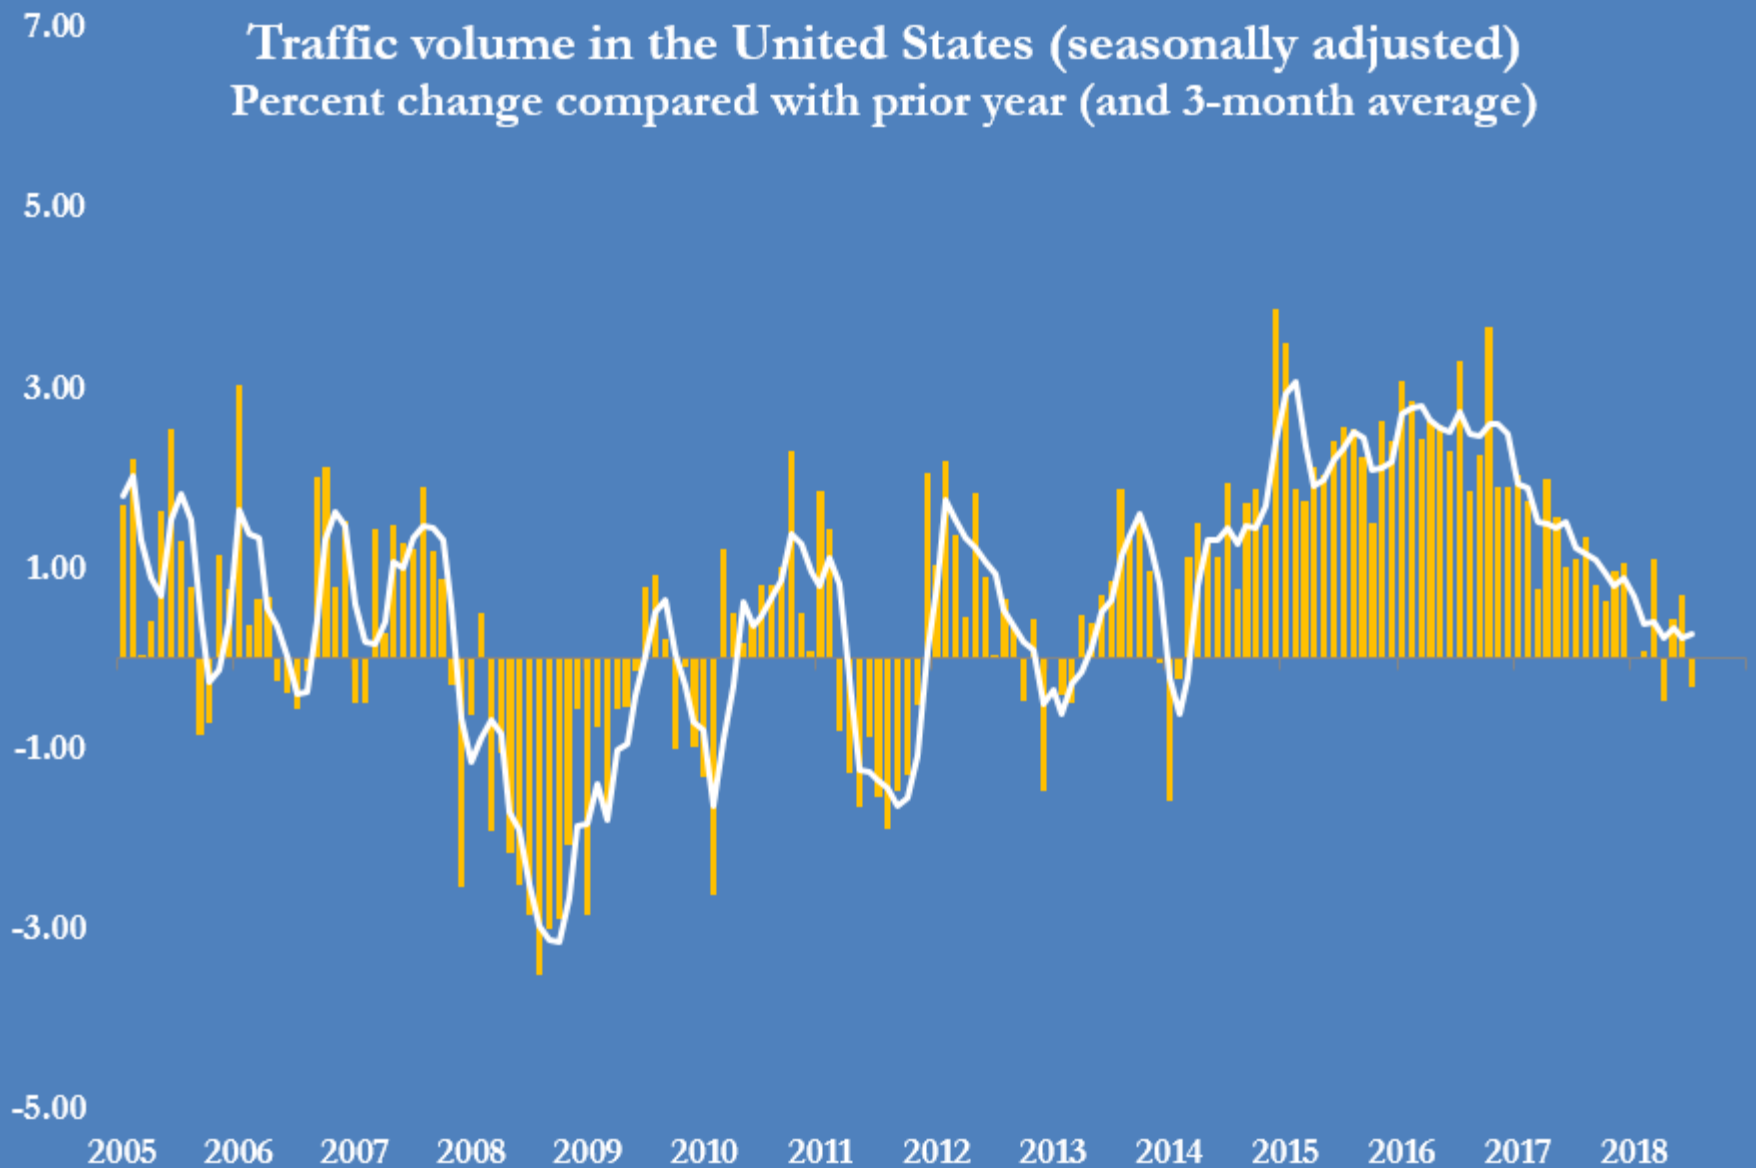

Traffic volume in the United States (seasonally adjusted)

Percent change compared with prior year

Source: US Federal Highway Administration, Traffic Volume Trends
@JKempEnergy

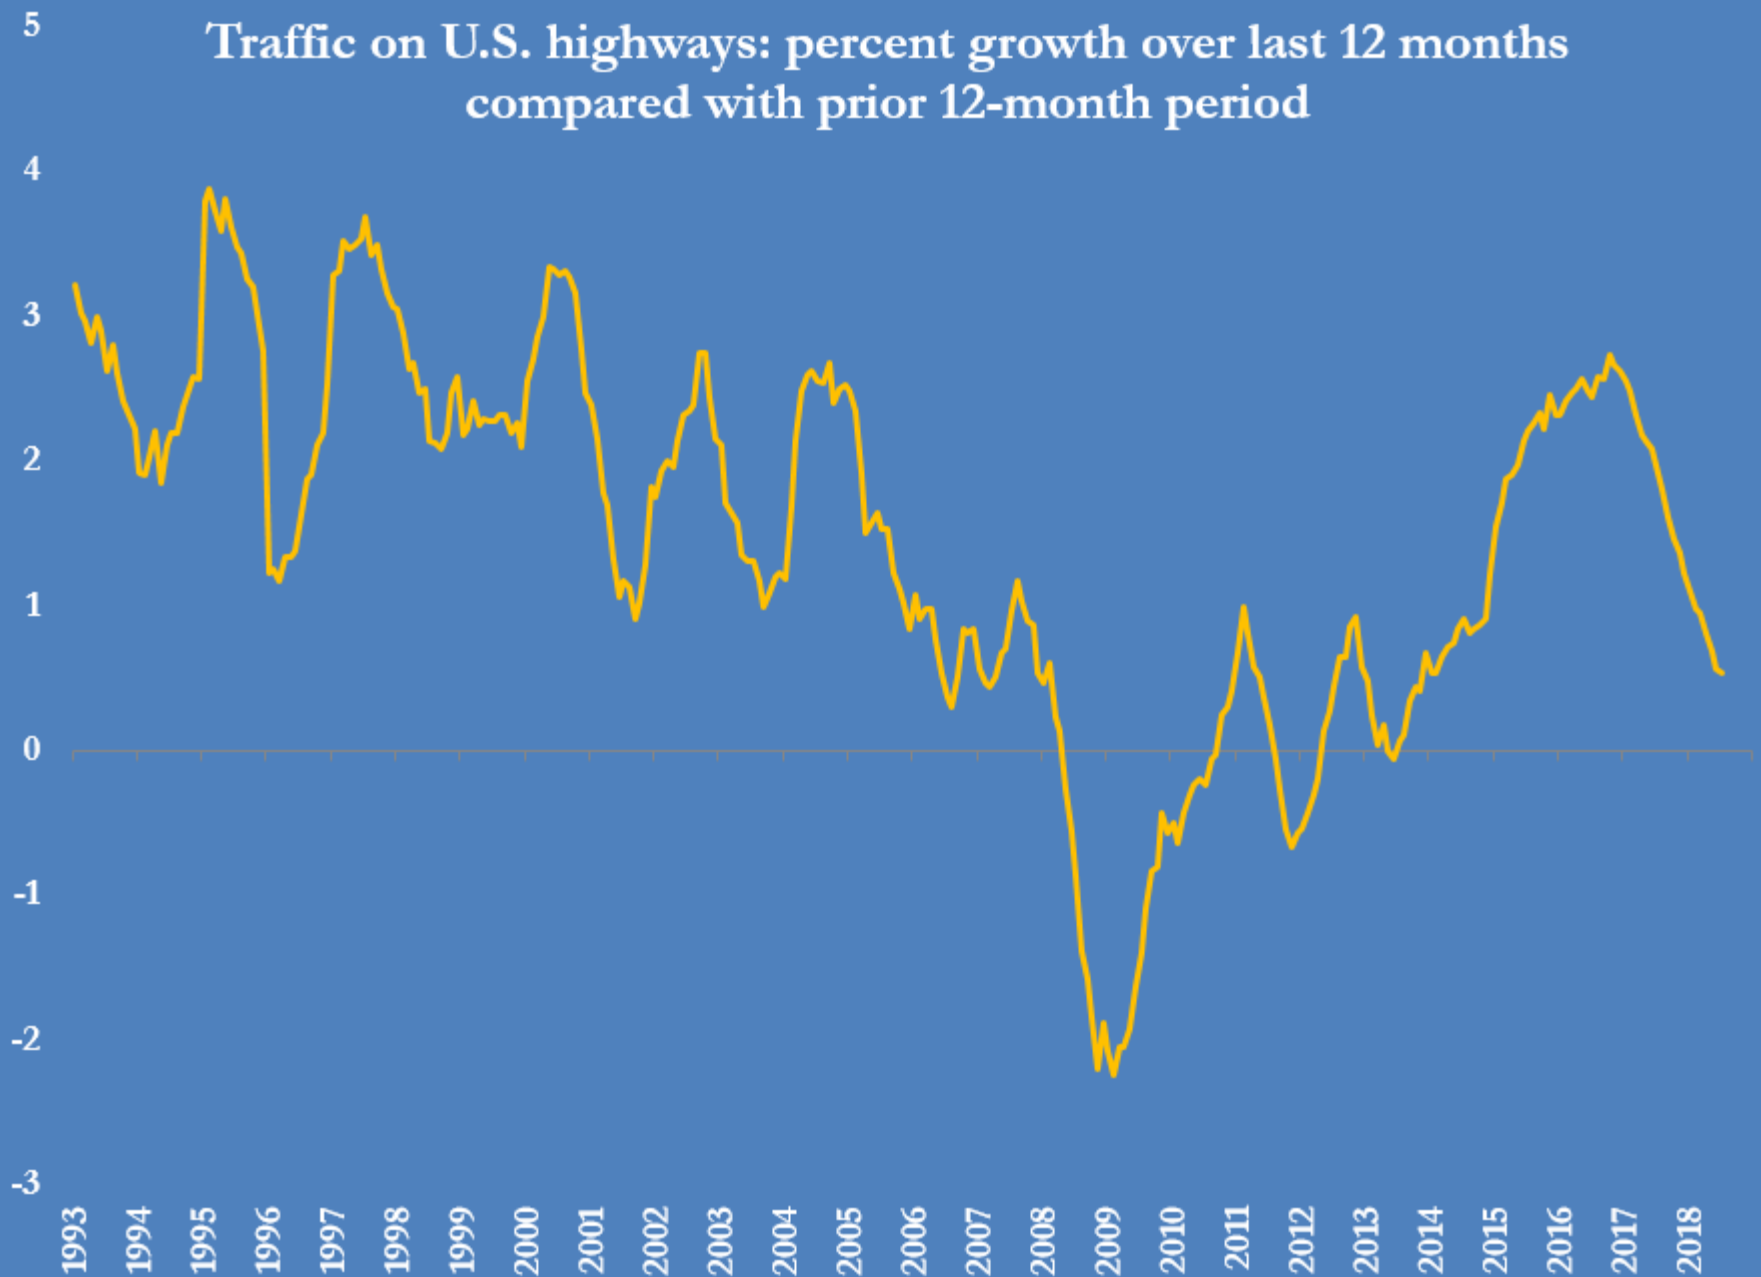

Traffic volume in the United States (seasonally adjusted) Percent change compared with prior year (and 3-month average)

■ Percent change compared with prior year
— 3-month moving average

Source: U.S. Federal Highway Administration
@JKempEnergy

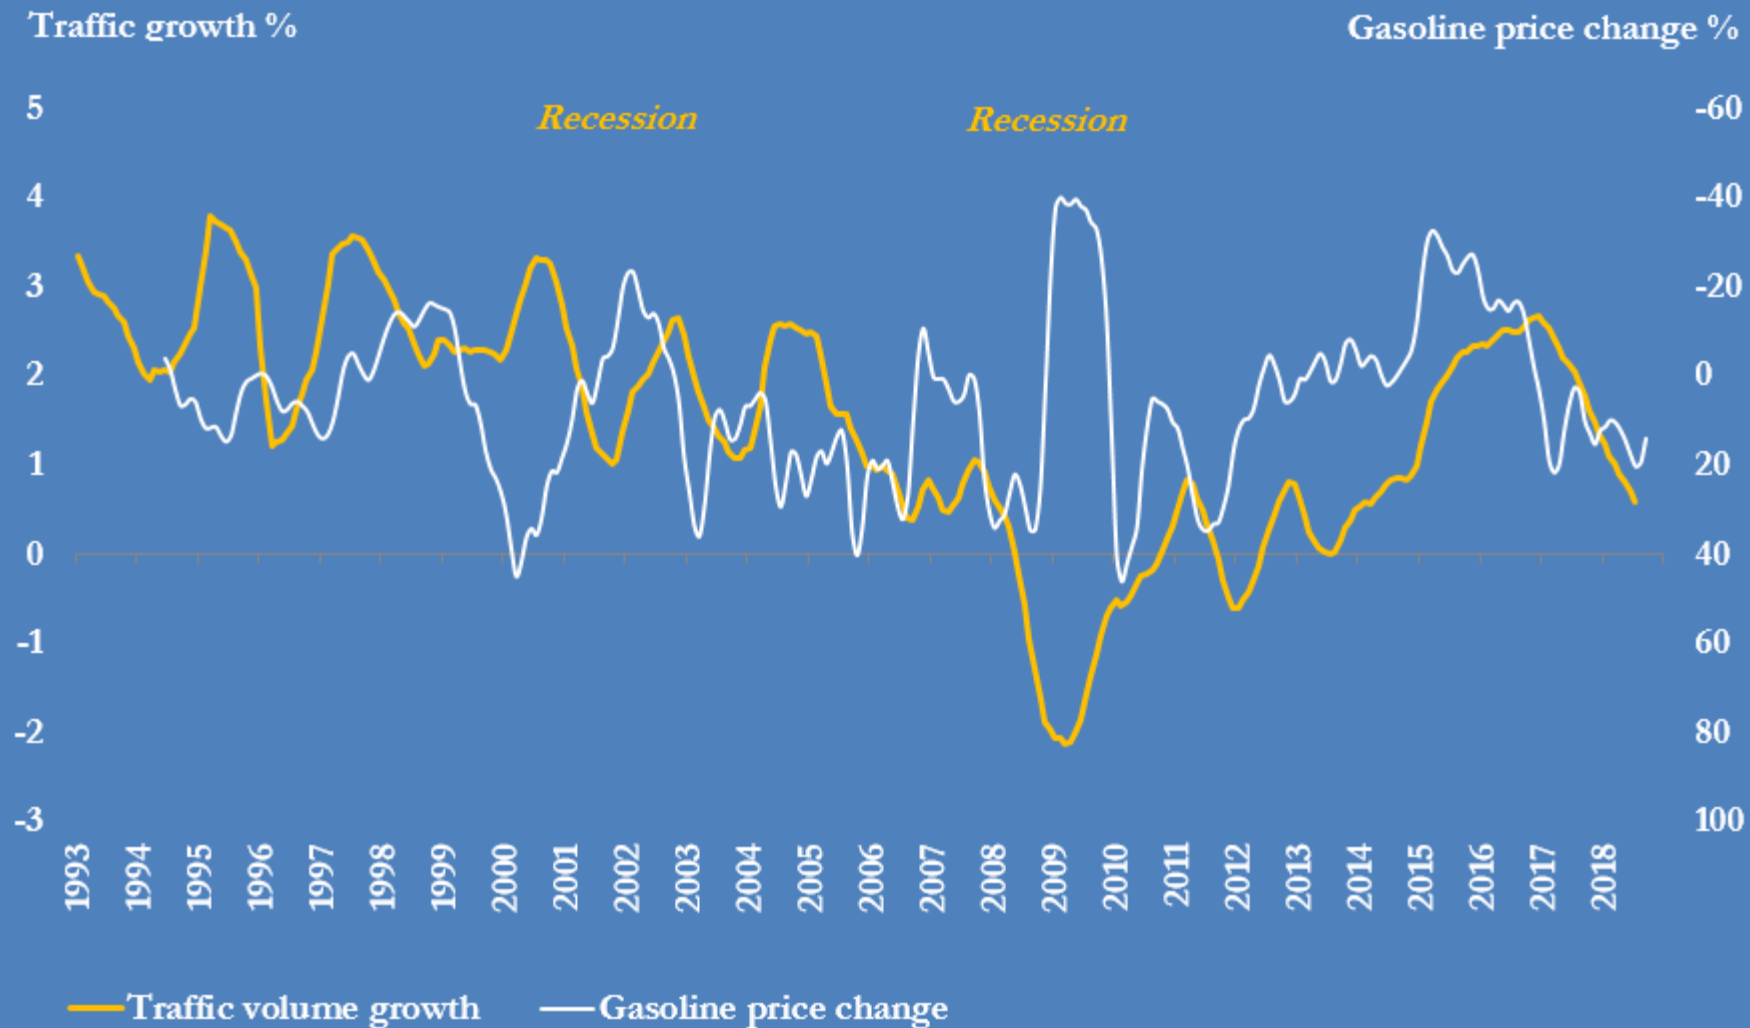

Traffic on U.S. highways: percent growth over last 12 months compared with prior 12-month period

Source: US Federal Highway Administration, Traffic Volume Trends

@JKempEnergy

Traffic growth on U.S. highways compared with change in gasoline prices

Sources: U.S. Federal Highway Administration, Traffic Volume Trends,
U.S. Energy Information Administration, Petroleum Supply Monthly
@JKempEnergy

U.S. gasoline supplied (implied consumption), 1990-2018

Percent change, six-month periods compared with year earlier

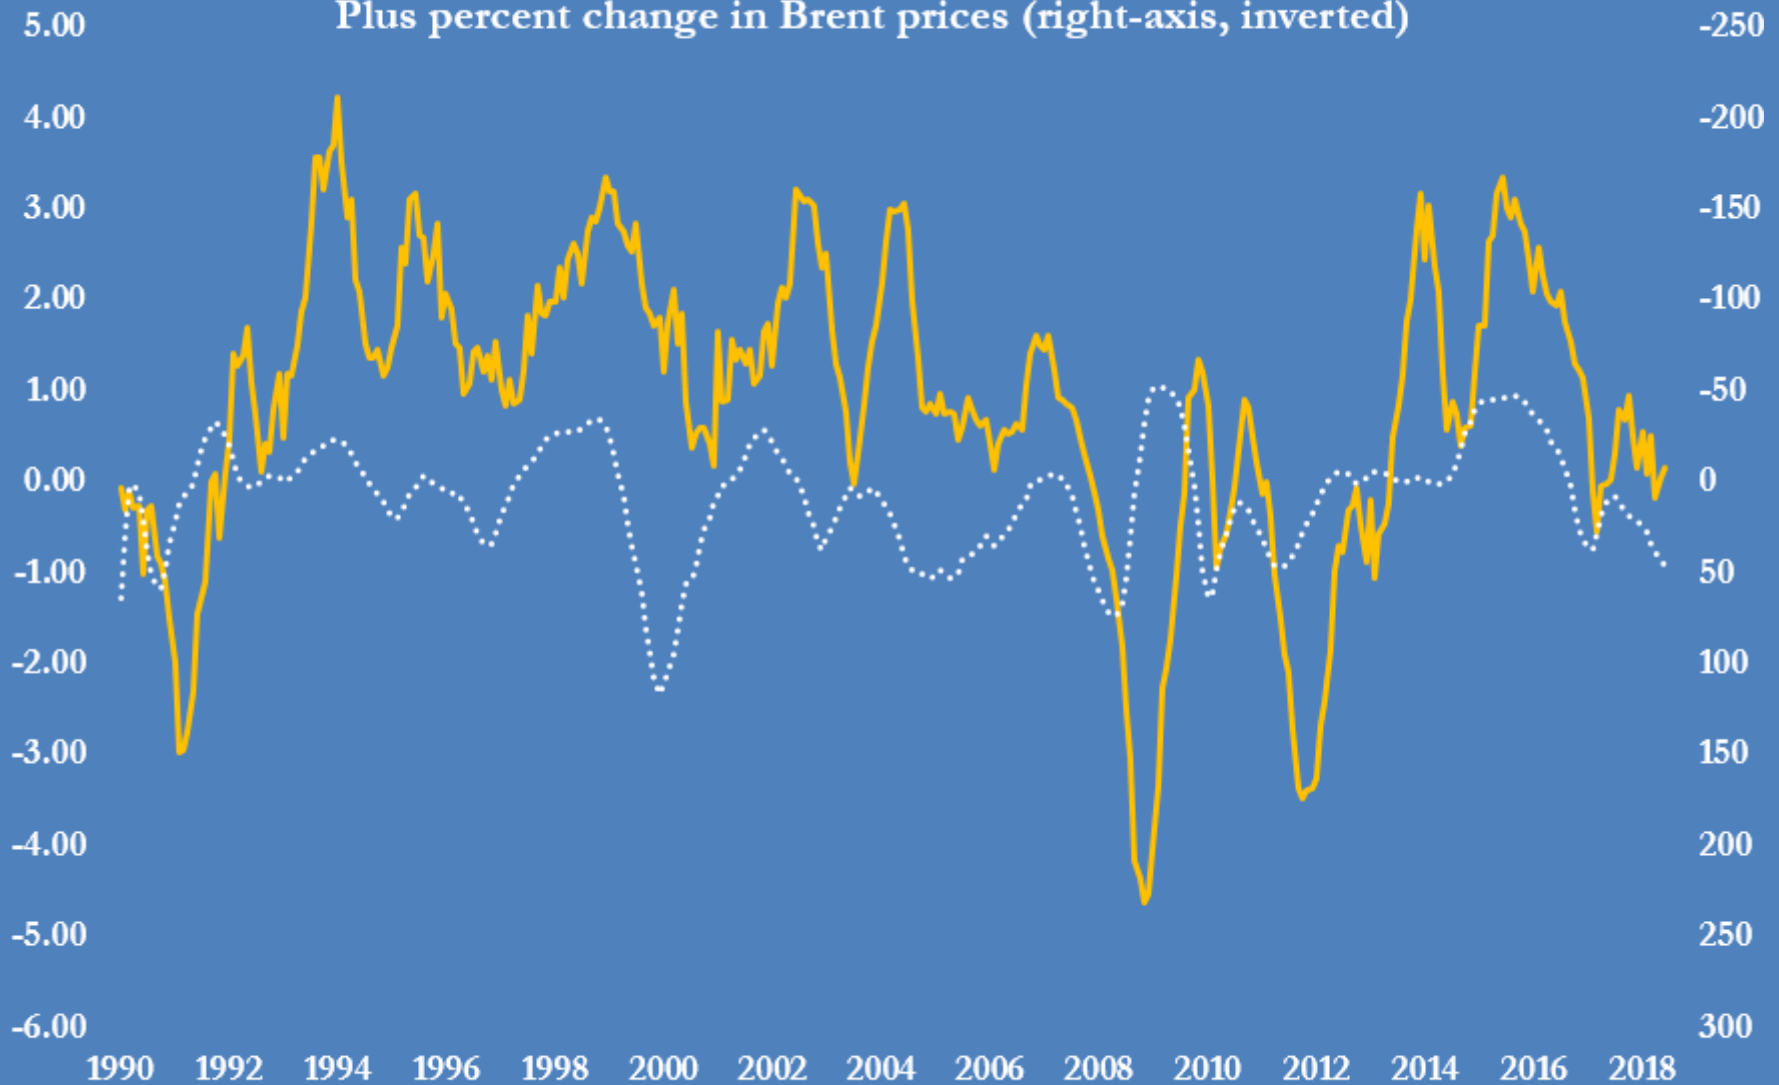

Source: U.S. Energy Information Administration

@JKempEnergy

U.S. gasoline supplied (implied consumption), 1990-2018

Percent change, six-month periods compared with year earlier

Plus percent change in Brent prices (right-axis, inverted)

— U.S. gasoline supplied (left-axis)
- - - - Brent crude prices (right-axis, inverted)

Source: U.S. Energy Information Administration
@JKempEnergy